

Cholesterol Lowering and Weight Reducing Dietary Advice

Fruit and vegetables

- Fruit and vegetables provide important vitamins that can be protective against the effects of cholesterol.
- These may be fresh, frozen or tinned.
- Potatoes are not included as they belong to the 'starchy food' group.
- Aim to eat 5 portions a day of fruit and vegetables

One portion is:

1 fresh fruit e.g. apple, small banana, pear, orange or, 3 tablespoons cooked fruit or vegetables or, 1 medium glass of fruit juice or, a small mixed salad

Fish

- A cardioprotective diet includes eating more fish and less meat.
- White fish is a good source of lean protein and the oily fish can be beneficial for the circulation because of it's oil.
- Everyone should aim for 1 serving of oily fish and 1 serving of white fish per week.
- A serving is 140g (approximately 50oz) per serving.
- Oily fish include herring, mackerel, salmon, pilchards, sardines and trout (fresh or tinned in brine or tomato sauce).

A maximum of 4 portions of oily fish per week is recommended for men and women who are not planning a pregnancy, pregnant or breast feeding. Pregnant or breastfeeding women should eat no more than 2 portions of oily fish per week and avoid marlin, shark and sword fish

Legume and nuts

can help lower cholesterol levels

Aim to include legumes such as lentils, chickpeas, peas and beans and/or unsalted nuts such as almonds, walnuts, sunflower seed four or five times a week.

Starchy foods

- Include normal helpings of starchy foods, such as all types of bread, potatoes, oats, rice and pasta. Choose wholemeal/wholegrain where possible. These foods are filling and low in fat. Do not add too much fat.

Foods containing fat

- Cut down on all fat but particularly saturated (animal) fats, such as, butter, lard, fatty meat, full-fat cheese and cream. Pastry, cakes and biscuits have a high fat content. Avoid frying and grill, bake, microwave, poach or steam food instead.
- All oils are high in fat and calories.
- Monounsaturated fats or oils are the best type to use for occasional frying or for stir-frying. Try small amounts of rapeseed, olive oil or walnut oil.
- For spreading on bread a reduced fat, 'light' spread is a good choice. Spread thinly. Sunflower, soya and other margarines are higher in fat and therefore calories.
- Choose low-fat dairy foods, such as low-fat milk, half-fat and 'Light' cheeses and low fat yoghurts.
- Choose chicken and lean meats in moderate amounts. Have 75 – 100g (3-4oz) for a main meal.

Aim to gradually reduce your weight.

- Take some regular exercise
- Reduce your fat intake (see ideas above)
- Reduce your sugar intake
- Reduce your alcohol intake if you drink regularly.
